

master conservationist

Experience Iowa's diverse natural resource— the prairies and grasslands, woodlands, wetlands and waterways, and abundant wildlife.

Class size: 25

Minimum age: 18

Registration deadline: March 8, 2019

"If you have an interest in the world around you, the birds in your backyard, the water you swim and fish in, the wildlife, trees and plants you see, I urge you to take this course."
-Waterloo Participant

Julie Malake

DISCOVER

The Master Conservationist program uses field experiences and online trainings to cover a broad range of conservation issues and topics. These experiences help Iowans make informed, intelligent choices for a lifestyle of stewardship.

TOPICS

Geological history of Iowa; wildlife diversity; prairies and grasslands; woodlands; wetlands; conservation practices; and planting the seeds of conservation.

EDUCATIONAL EXPERIENCE

Designed for adult learners, participants receive at least 32 hours of online and outdoor hands-on education led by trained professionals in their field. The range of topics provides information that can be useful in service to the community and in their own backyards. Service learning opportunities are encouraged, but not required to complete the program.
